Hamilton and Buffalo bonds showed one account that the purchase was made at 91 and in another account that it was at 99. The witness could not explain except that it was done in transferring the purchase from the syndicate account to the investment accounts. Further reason the witness could not give, except that he was not treasurer of the company when the transfer was made.

MOTHER SHOT,

It was brought out at the Legislative incurance inquiry this afternoon that the New York Life Insurance Company juggled its security holdings to mislead the State Insurance Department. The evidence was wrung from Treasurer Edmund E. Randolph, who had been on the witness stand all day. and who had denied that the New York Life bought securities one day and sold them the next with the purpose of "making a market." Chief Counsel Hughes discovered the entry on Dec. 31, 1903, showing that the New York Life had on that doy sold $800,000 worth of International Mercantile Marine Company bonds, which had been purchased only a short time be fore from J. P. Morgan & Co. Q. To whom were those bonds sold?

In the matter of dis posing of the stocks by the method of procuring employees to act as borrowers the directors feel justified. They had made $1,000,000 pmfit on the securi-ties in question and by disposing of them as we did we made $250,000 more. We saved the securities from going to public auction—especially the Chicago and Northwestern stock."

Explanations and Fears.

Brown, the man arrested, is employed by J. F. Gibson, who keeps a livery stable at No. 223 West Fifty-first street, and lives at the home of Mrs. Mary Wagner, No. 200 West Fifty-first street. Mr. Gibson said to-day Brown is a steady, reliable man who has worked for him for years and that he can not helieve him xuilty of forcing an entrance to anyone's house.

"You will find his arrest is a mistake." he said. "Brown is a very honest fellow, as I have reason to know. I paid him off last night and he said he was going un to Greenwich to see his sweetheart, Kate Tierney. He told me she was a cook for a wealthy family."

Mrs. Wagner also said Brown told her he was going to Greenwich to see his sweetheart. She spoke in the highest terms of the man's character, and is sure some mistake has been made.

E. C. Converse, father of Mrs. Morrell, is President of the Bankers' Trust Company and also of the Liberty National Bank of this city. He was formerly Vice-President of the National Tube Company, which was absorbed by the United States.

"Oh, it all goes into the profit and loss account."

Q. Why, then, do you call bonds ledger assets and stocks non-ledger assets? A. Well, the bonds represent on their face the exact amount invested.

Q. Suppose there should be a turn in the market and conditions should be neversed? A. I don't know of any case of the kind. On the books we must show an asset for every expenditure. Stocks are simply surplus.

Mr. Hughes read in evidence the syndicate transactions of the New York Life for the last ten years. A total alleged profit of over $2,000,000 was shown for that period for all syndicate opera-
